

Graham Bradshaw.....sound man

Graham Bradshaw has been doing sound at festivals since 1980, when he first did the sound desk at the 2nd Warwick Folk Festival, and has worked there every year since. (He played at the first one with his ceilidh band). Over that 35 years, he has worked with diverse bands in every genre of music, but folk remains his first love, and his company, CV Audio, now provides sound for many top folk festivals, including Shrewsbury, Bromyard and of course Warwick.

Graham and his lovely assistant Laurence will be making their 5th visit to Straw Bear in 2015, and always look forward to their annual visit to Whittlesea, even if it is usually freezing, but that, they tell me, is part of its charm!

See Graham at work in the Ivy Leaf Club on Friday night Concert or at Sir Harry Smith's CC for the Barn Dance on Saturday night.
