

Marina Florance.....is a singer/songwriter originally from London, her music has been played on National TV/Radio including ITV's This Morning, BBC Radio 2 and BBC6Music. She recently did a set for BBC Introducing Norfolk <https://youtu.be/ey7cnhNPCFM> and has been added to SoundClouds International Women's Day Playlist <https://soundcloud.com/soundcloud/sets/international-womens-day-2014> With various Albums and EPs to her name the latest being the 'Triple A Side'. Marina was also included on the widely acclaimed 'The F Spot' Femmes Fatales Compilation, which resulted in her track 'The Path He Chose' getting some great reviews!

Website: marinaflorance.com
twitter @marinaflo

"...'The Path He Chose' struck me immediately, it's a killer song." R2 Rock'n'Reel Magazine
"a wonderful singer songwriter... she has got an amazing voice." Anthony Head (Buffy/Merlin Actor)
"she has a voice like chocolate" Sue Marchant BBC Radio

"a wonderful singer songwriter, Marina's original version of 'Cry' was beautiful, she has got an amazing voice." Anthony Head (Buffy/Merlin Actor)

"...her company, like her music, is honest down to earth and a pure joy to be around." Bob Meyer 'Bobs Folk Show'

"Marina can turn her voice from an almost deep south growl to torch singer, flooding a song with a real sense of personality as though each song has a voice of its own"
Neil King FATEA

"...When I heard her sing 'The Dress', my ears did a double take – her low velvet tones absolutely blew me away, and tears sprang to my eyes. I felt immediately emotionally connected to this music, to her voice, and to the natural flow of each song..." Music vs. The World

