

Peeping Tom

Peeping Tom are Ben Woodward (melodeon), Ian Wilson (keyboards and cittern) Pete Smale (guitar), John McIntosh (bass guitar and tambourine) and Barry Malin (percussion). Formed in 1972, they have spent the last 37 years perfecting the art of performing high-energy music for English ceilidhs. They travel extensively, playing all of the major festivals and specialist dance clubs. They are noted for their ability to pick the right tune for the right dance, which makes them exceptionally easy to dance to.

Considered by many to be the UK's favourite dance band, Peeping Tom continue their never-ending circuit around the UK, providing tight, up tempo, high energy dance music. Their unmistakable folk-rock sound has been often imitated but never bettered.

This is their fourth visit to the Straw Bear Festival and put this gig on their list of favourites - mainly for a great venue, a great audience and a great atmosphere! Noted caller Gordon Potts says of the band "If Status Quo did ceilidhs....."
